Linda Leckman, CEO, Intermountain Healthcare Medical Group

Dr. Leckman is Vice President, Intermountain Healthcare and Chief Executive Officer, Intermountain Medical Group. She has been with Intermountain Healthcare since 1996 where, as chief executive officer of the medical group, she is responsible for clinical practices of 770 employed primary and secondary care physicians, including approximately 2950 support staff. Other services include pharmacies, occupational medicine, urgent care and retail based clinics.

Dr. Leckman is also responsible for the development of system-wide programs of "best practice" in regard to community-based clinical care delivery in primary care, behavioral health, and oncology.

Prior to joining Intermountain Healthcare, Dr. Leckman was a general surgeon in private practice at Alta View and Cottonwood Hospitals in Utah.

Dr. Leckman is actively involved with the Utah Medical Association having served on its board, being an alternate delegate to AMA for three years and receiving the Distinguished Service Award.

Other professional associations have included the AMA, Alpha Omega Alpha Honor Medical Society, Fellow American College of Surgeons, Association of Women Surgeons, American College of Physician Executives and the Utah State Physicians Licensing Board (1995-2004).

Dr. Leckman received a B.A. In history from the Texas Christian University and her M.D. from the University of New Mexico.